We Are Excited for the 2016-2017 Year at Junior Kindergarten!

We are excited to learn with the children and families participating in the Child Study Centre Junior Kindergarten program!

At JK learning opportunities blend together literacy, numeracy, social, and inquiry skills. Independence, collaboration, and curiosity are highly valued.

In September we will grow our learning community. There are names to learn, greetings to practice, toys to explore, games to play, songs to sing, and expectations to uphold. (see pg 3)

Initially, the focus will be on ourselves. The children will paint their names and create representations of themselves, starting the documentation that will be posted in the music room.

the day's events and posters provide reminders of class expectations. Please look at it each day with your child.

Teachers will be found playing, demonstrating, guiding, listening, praising, and discussing. We may look distracted, but don't be fooled, our eyes and ears are always noticing what is happening in class. Perhaps this is why we go home exhausted!

At JK we invest much energy into helping our young learners navigate our class environment. A visual calendar predicts

Please feel free to approach any of us (Ann, Jenn, or Frieda) with questions, comments and/or concerns. We love to chat!

Counting the number of days we've attended JK provides authentic, daily numeracy practice.

"You and your children will need to tape or glue items, images, or photos to the cardboard letter you are given."

Numeracy

Knowing numbers is powerful! Numbers are used to count things we can feel, but also used in an abstract sense to represent an amount. Understanding place value is essential for future success in math. We will practise daily by using a Popsicle stick to represent each day at school. Once ten are collected we will bundle them together. Eventually, we will be practising how to count by ones and tens.

Important People & Research

The location of our program is AWESOME! We can be connected to the great people who work and research in the Department of Education. This year we have a few partnerships planned, and here is what we know so far:

Dr. Lynn McGarvey & Dr. Nicole Jamison will identify, observe, analyze, and record opportunities to learn mathematics in the pre-school classroom.

Coutts Library librarians have invited the children to review a book. Their work will be submitted to the Deakin Review of Children's Literature, and electronic journal.

The ASaP Continuum Project. With training, coaching, and monitoring by GRIT we will improve our abilities to support social & emotional development for all children.

Enjoying Literature and Developing Literacy Skills

We playfully approach developing literacy skills. Letters and their corresponding sounds are explored using images, puppets, songs, toys, and literature. The letters of the alphabet are learned out of sequence, and typically the letter links to what we are learning. For example we will learn about F when learn about friendship and P when we read The Three Little Pigs.

Children usually learn consonants prior to vowels because articulating them provides more feedback to the mouth. Compare /b/ and /o/!

Collectively, the children will also create a class alphabet. To do so, you and your children will need to tape or glue items, images, or photos to the letter you are given.

Jenn will be distributing the letters along with instructions later in September.

In September and October the children will study the stories: The Three Little Pigs. The study of a story creates a common understanding that a story has characters and events. Stories have a beginning, a middle, and an end. It also develops a sense of community as we revisit a common story and recreate it in various ways. There is something special about sharing a common plot and enjoying its multiple representations.

At Junior Kindergarten I learn so much! Now I can ...

There are so many ways school and home can work together. We do many things to build strong connections between home and school.

~We conduct home visits

~We display family photos in the classroom

~We try to incorporate greeting words represented in our home environments

~We create weekly blog posts you can look at and talk about with your child

~We chat with our families at the beginning and end of our Junior Kindergarten classes

~We let you know what your children are learning about at JK. Each newsletter will list what your child should be able to do or identify at the end of the month, and also list what they will be working on for the upcoming month.

September We Will:

*Learn the Letters: Ff, Pp

*Practice saying, "hi" and "bye" to Jenn, Ann, and Frieda

*Become comfortable with the JK routine (p. 1)

*Use walking feet, listing ears, and kind words (p. 3) while at JK

*Learn how classmates are similar and different

*Learn and use names

Show and Share

Show and share provides opportunities for the children to share and speak about what interests them. In addition, they learn about and respect what interests others. Anticipation is created by placing the ONE special show and share item, in a bag or box!

Please consult the monthly calendar to find out your child's show and share day

Parents' To Do List:

1. After your children change into their indoor shoes, take them to the bathroom so they can have "a try" It is not a big deal if they don't pee, but this routine may prevent unnecessary interruptions in their play
2. Read the visual calendar together and wave at the teachers
- 3.. Leave your children's

Scholastic Book Orders

Monthly Scholastic book orders will be stapled to the newsletters.

Scholastic provides books and kits at an affordable prices Typically, the books are delivered within a few weeks.

Please return your book order by the 10th of each month.

- toys at home or in the vehicle.
4. Support children in dressing independently. It takes longer for your children to dress themselves, so be sure to budget your time accordingly!
5. Encourage your children to eat independently at home.
6. Pack a bottle of water

Fire Drills

To prepare for emergencies, we practice monthly fire drills.

Our emergency procedure unfolds like this:

- sing Mary Had A Little Lamb
- line up by holding the walking "train" rope
- walk up the stairs & exit
- gather outside the fence
- take attendance

If there is a real emergency, come to St. Joseph's College. Map is posted in class entry.

"After you children change into their indoor shoes, take them to the bathroom so they can have 'a try.'"

- (not juice) for your children's snack.
7. Please let us know what aspects of JK your children are enjoying and/or struggling with. All children respond differently!
8. Ensure your child's back pack has room for the water bottle, snack, crafts, and newsletters.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS CLASS EXPECTATIONS- THE RULES WE ALL FOLLOW

We keep our rules/ expectations clear, simple, and consistent. At the beginning of the year we focus on: walking feet, listening ears, and kind words. There are posters on the wall to remind the children and the teachers carry small visual cards to show the children. Our expectations include being friendly, helpful, and safe at school.

WALKING FEET

When we forget to walk, we touch this sign to remind our feet to slow down and be safe.

LISTENING EARS

When we forget to listen to the teacher or classmate, the teacher will say, "put on your listening ears"

KIND WORDS

Kind words = Safe School
